Local Government Structure

1. Can Congress, through ordinary legislation, provide for shift to a federal form of government?
2. Can Congress establish sitios as the basic political and territorial unit?
3. Is there only 1 type of city?
4. Can the President create a local government unit (LGU)?
5. Are LGUs classified as corporations?

- Current set-up: Unitary form where LGUs are subdivisions of 1 unit (i.e., State) and have no claim against it
- The 1987 Constitution provides for an exclusive/ fixed list of 5 LGU-types – Autonomous Regions, Provinces, Cities (3 sub-types: highly-urbanized, independent component and component), Municipalities and Barangays. Congress, through ordinary legislation, cannot add (sitios) or delist.
- The creation of LGUs is a legislative, not an executive, act. The President and Local Chief Executives cannot create LGUs.
- LGUs are public corporations, i.e., municipal corporation proper (i.e., government of a portion of the State).
